

APLS Course

Please find enclosed your APLS certificate. Congratulations on successfully completing the course.

Life Support Course: Disclaimer

The award by the Advanced Life Support Group of a Certificate Card indicates that you have successfully completed a course and by inference have undertaken active participation. The certificate does not constitute a certificate of competence nor a licence to practise as further training is recommended and you may not be authorised to use these skills within your employment. In some situations a disabled candidate might successfully pass all of the theoretical aspects of a course but, due to a disability, be unable to complete all of the physical course requirements.

Employers are themselves directly responsible for establishing that their staff have the capabilities requisite to their clinical setting - this is essential in the interests of patient health and safety.

Accordingly, they must not rely to any extent on the holding by an individual of a Certificate of Qualification from the Advanced Life Support Group as lessening their responsibility in that respect.

The certificate is valid for 4 years and it is recommended that providers recertify at the end of the 4 year period.

For further information, please contact the Advanced Life Support Group

With best wishes

Kelly Hill
Courses Administrator

APLS Course

Please find enclosed your APLS certificate. Congratulations on successfully completing the course.

Life Support Course: Disclaimer

The award by the Advanced Life Support Group of a Certificate Card indicates that you have successfully completed a course and by inference have undertaken active participation. The certificate does not constitute a certificate of competence nor a licence to practise as further training is recommended and you may not be authorised to use these skills within your employment. In some situations a disabled candidate might successfully pass all of the theoretical aspects of a course but, due to a disability, be unable to complete all of the physical course requirements.

Employers are themselves directly responsible for establishing that their staff have the capabilities requisite to their clinical setting - this is essential in the interests of patient health and safety.

Accordingly, they must not rely to any extent on the holding by an individual of a Certificate of Qualification from the Advanced Life Support Group as lessening their responsibility in that respect.

The certificate is valid for 4 years and it is recommended that providers recertify at the end of the 4 year period.

For further information, please contact the Advanced Life Support Group

With best wishes

Kelly Hill
Courses Administrator

